

HOLLAND WINS NOMINATION

bearer of news. The young delegates stood and cheered him heartily. "Ballot No. 502" announced the clerk. Then came the usual answers: "Deal, 7"; "Holland, 80"; "Maynard, 4 for Deal, 13 for Maynard." But when "Mr. Young" was called, there was not the usual response, "63 for Deal."

Instead, Mr. Trehy arose and said, "Mr. Chairman, with the consent of Mr. Young, I wish to cast at least five of his votes for Mr. Holland." Then he sat down.

Meaning Realized. Few members of the convention grasped the significance of this statement for a few moments. Then pandemonium reigned. Released from the tension of the preceding days, affected by loss of sleep and work, overjoyed that it was all over the leaders, who had been ceaseless in their labors since they left Norfolk on Monday morning, were swept from their usual placidity. Men stood on chairs, threw their hats into the air, shouted like schoolboys. Out of the hall rushed men and boys carrying the news throughout the town.

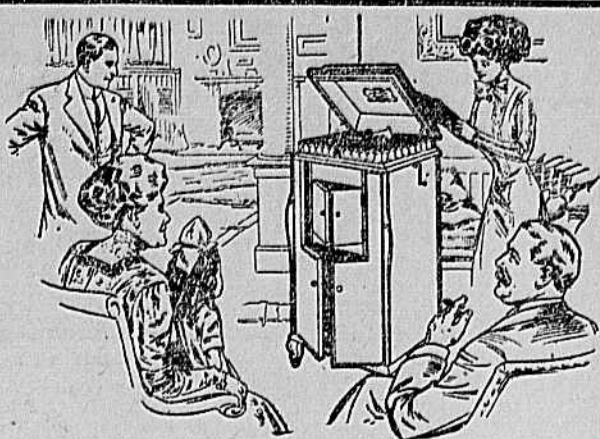

As soon as order had been restored, Chairman Davis stated that he desired to have the records kept straight, and he asked Mr. Trehy to give the exact vote of his delegation. After consultation, Mr. Trehy announced that the Young delegation voted three for Young and sixty for Holland. This was the signal for more cheering.

Then Ira T. Holt, of the Deal delegation, changed the vote of seven to Holland. On the other hand, the entire Maynard vote was cast for Young. In order to get the matter straight, Mr. Trehy announced that the ballot had been announced. Mr. Wood, the Maynard chairman, moved to make the nomination unanimous, which was done amid tumultuous applause.

Explained Procedure. The crowd would not be denied—it wanted Trehy to speak. He mounted the platform and was warmly greeted. He said, in the first place, that he came to win the nomination for Young. No man, he said, had friends more loyal than his. He had his principal in mind, he told of the events of the convention, saying that Deal was the second choice of his delegation. When every effort to secure a nomination had been exhausted, he had gone to Holland.

Speaking of the recent contest, he said it had attracted attention all over the State, some of it not at all creditable to the district. He asked to be credited with honesty in saying that Young had received a majority of the votes honestly cast in the August primary. He reiterated briefly to feeling against Young in certain quarters, asserting that he did not believe it was founded on any substantial basis. But these reports, he thought, had influenced the State Democratic Committee in its decision to throw out the primary. Going a little further, he said that what was recognized as the "controlling power" in State politics did not regard Young as the man who should be before the people as a candidate for Congress. Such an opinion regarding Mr. Young he did not believe to be based on any substantiality.

Got a Majority. At all events, he stated as a fact that a majority of the investigating committee had said that Young had a majority of the vote honestly cast. However, Young had accepted the mandate of the party authority, and now accepted the verdict. He promised there should be no laggards in Norfolk, but that a full Democratic majority should be given.

He closed by again advocating a legalized primary.

On motion of various delegates the thanks of the convention were tendered the chairman and secretary, the manager of the convention hall, the good people of Suffolk, the police of Suffolk, and the press for the courteous and efficient way in which it had reported the proceedings of this body. Mr. Parker, in making one of these motions, said that if by a legalized primary, conventions should be eliminated for all time, he would be sorry, because there would be lost the opportunity of getting together and of realizing that all those in attendance were Democrats, laboring for the best interests of the party. In the beginning of this convention he had been doubtful, but had found such a spirit of brotherly kindness and justice as he had never seen anywhere else.

Holland Accepts. The four respective chairmen were appointed a committee to notify Senator Holland of his nomination and to escort him to the convention. He spoke briefly. There has been, he said, too much talking, too much feeling and factional strife. He was, he declared, the candidate of no faction, but of a united party. He promised to represent every individual in the district in Congress. He asked only the same support from those who had opposed him as he would have accorded them had he succeeded. In conclusion he thanked those 4,000 voters who cast their ballots for him last Friday.

A committee went after the defeated candidates, and they came to the platform. Mr. Maynard was first introduced. He had been, he said, a good winner and he proposed to be a good loser. It was unnecessary to say what the result in his city of Portsmouth would be. He would do all he could for Holland's election.

Made No Mistake. Mr. Deal came next. His remarks produced an especially good impression, since he spoke most kindly, and in graceful language, of his three opponents. No mistake, he added, had been made in selecting Holland.

Lastly Mr. Young was introduced. He also proved a good loser. In language which appealed to his hearers, and which brought him round after round of the applause which had also been given liberally to Maynard and Deal, he thanked those friends who had so loyally stood by him, including "your friend, my friend and the friend of Democracy—James V. Trehy." He declared he was ready to serve Holland's interests in this campaign anywhere.

On motion of Mr. Parker the convention adjourned sine die at 1:10, after a short prayer by Rev. G. H. McFadden.

Holland's Record. Edward Everett Holland, the Democratic nominee for Congress from the Second District, is a native of Nansemond county, and has lived within its borders all of his life, excepting since October 1, when, without moving from his own home, he became no longer a resident of the county because of the passing of Suffolk into a city, which forms a separate political entity in Virginia. However, he is regarded as a "Nansemond county boy." Early in his professional life as an attorney, he was elected Mayor of Suffolk, then ranking as an incorporated town, and served one term. Soon after he was elected attorney for the Commonwealth for Nansemond county, which position he filled continuously for twenty years. While still in office he was chosen to represent the counties of Nansemond, Isle of Wight and Southampton in the State Senate, which position he now holds.

A successful attorney, a good financier, a man with the respect of the entire community, and one who, as a member of a legislative body, has already demonstrated his ability and his qualities of leadership, there was no opponent of his in the primary or in the convention who said that he did not think Mr. Holland would make a good representative.

AUTOMOBILE KILLS HORSE

Mayle Applies Brakes to Prevent Accident.

An automobile belonging to the Gordon Motor Company, driven by J. E. Mayle, a chauffeur, crashed into a United States mail wagon early yesterday morning, and so badly injured the horse that it had to be killed. Samuel Spriggs, driver of the mail wagon, was thrown out, but escaped unhurt.

Spriggs was driving on Meadow Street and the automobile, in which were Morgan Mills and W. D. Gordon, was coming east on Monument Avenue. Mayle applied the brakes when he saw collision impending, but the car skidded and ran into the wagon. No one was hurt. Spriggs was reimbursed for his horse.

possible to all, in order to secure the largest possible attendance, and the freedom from interruptions which break in upon meetings at resorts and seaside places.

While Richmond will no doubt do her part without stint in entertainment of the convention, especially in view of its peculiar prominence, yet it is a business body here for a business purpose, with large matters to discuss, and it will welcome but few interruptions to its schedule for social events.

The meeting will probably occur the third week in May, 1911, though the exact dates have not been fixed. The sessions will be held in the auditorium of the Jefferson Hotel, and that hotel will be the headquarters, members of the board of governors having asserted that it was the most conveniently arranged place at which the association has ever held a meeting.

Stiff became the bride of Jacob Montgomery Brown, of Blacksburg. The church was beautifully decorated. The bride entered the church with her sister, Miss Laura Stiff, as maid of honor. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. Willard Stiff, father of the bride. The bridesmaids were Miss Jean Crawford, of Roanoke; Miss Bessie Hall, of Blacksburg; Miss Grace N. Thomas, of Ananook; and Miss Anna B. Thomas, of New York City. Rev. D. J. Woods, of Blacksburg, was best man. The ushers were Charles Bowman, of Baltimore; L. K. Payne and T. H. The bride and groom left on the night express for New York, and will be at home in Blacksburg. A reception was given the bridal party Tuesday evening at the parsonage.

Fernyhough-Hutton. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Warrenton, Va., October 19.—Miss Margaret Hutton, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hutton, and Dr. R. E. Fernyhough, both of Warrenton, were married here this afternoon at the Baptist Church, Rev. F. R. Boston officiating. The church which, with floral decorations, with ferns, potted plants and yellow chrysanthemums for the occasion, was crowded to its capacity.

The procession was led up the aisle to the strains of Lohengrin, beautifully rendered by Miss Kinslow, the matron of honor, Miss Helen Hutton, the bridesmaid, wearing net dresses, with black lace hats, these being Misses Ray and Effie Hawley, of Orleans; Miss Josephine Braden, of Warrenton; and Miss May Hodge, of Warrenton. The groomsmen were Charles E. Jeffries and J. S. White, of Warrenton, and Dr. Mansfield, of Warrenton. Then came the bride, handsomely gowned in cream net, over mesaline, carrying white roses and wearing ornaments of pearls, which have been worn for several generations. She was given in marriage by her father.

A large reception was given to the bridal party after the wedding. Dr. and Mrs. Fernyhough left on the afternoon train for an extended bridal tour through the North, after which they will be at home in Warrenton. The bride is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Hutton. Dr. Fernyhough is a native of Washington, but has for many years made his home in Warrenton, where he is a physician, being a graduate of V. P. I., and several other institutions of learning.

Why Is It

that the smooth mellow flavor of Pabst Blue Ribbon is duplicated in no other beer? It is simply the result of "knowing how."

No two housewives will bake bread that is exactly alike, even using the same materials. One bakes better than another because of her peculiar "knack" or "know how,"
